Re-evolution. I had been thinking about this, it would seem not worth serious reflection questions that no doubt many doctors think. It was first put NGChernyshevsky, but he thought globally and had in mind the policy. "Who is to blame and what to do?". In school, I was such topics totally excited and even a little irritated. I thought, "Here people do nothing happened." Now, being engaged in medical practice and faced with illogical contradictions that hinder its further development and I remembered the question Chernyshevsky which have not a reasonable answer has been found. It seems to me that with regard to medicine the answer is but he was not alone, as well as the question Consisting of two parts.

The fact that modern medicine today is in deep crisis (with the exception of surgery) for serious professionals no longer a secret. There is a search for ways to overcome this crisis, which has not yet given tangible results. In my opinion the reason for this is the search for new solutions and ideas are attempts to reach them by the old methods, which fundamentally contradict each other until mutual exclusion. This evolution and revolution, are two mutually exclusive processes, which in my opinion in regard to medicine are unable to give a positive result.

Evolution (from the Latin evolutio - deployment.), In a broad sense -sinonim development; changing processes (preferably irreversibly) flowing in the organic and inorganic nature, as well as in social systems.

The revolution - a radical transformation in any area of human activity.

A revolution (from Late revolutio- turn upheaval, transformation, treatment) - a radical, radical, profound, qualitative change, the leap in the development of society, the nature of, or knowledge of, the conjugate with an open rupture with the previous state. Revolution as a qualitative leap in the development of a more rapid and significant change, and the evolution of feature (where development occurs more slowly), and from the reform (in which to make changes to any part of the system without affecting the existing basis).

With regard to the evolution of medicine has long stopped. There are still fruitless attempts at reform, but it is not even evolution and the helpless marking time in search of a "philosophy of the stone." This state of medicine feel all the doctors and when the young enthusiastic doctor comes to the realization that he is helpless and can do nothing help the patient, he is facing a choice. A choice of low, or follow the standards that have been trained and thus accept the belief that most diseases are incurable and do routine or join a minority party, which does not receive this e GMs. Sad, but quiet majority has always been and will be in antagonism with enthusiastic ones whose lives are always restless. Among them there are radicals who wish to make a revolution, but they are a minority, and among her they will never have the support, because a complete rejection of the former experience in medicine as damaging as ignoring new ideas. "Quiet most of the" over time so demoralized that despite the negative attitude to the representatives of restless minorities, and this attitude is mixed but envy and a sense of worthlessness, they, representatives of the majority show their emotions and actions is weak, as if cautiously. Typically, this is expressed in a silent ignoring affairs enthusiasts, because even criticism of the representatives of the "party of restless" on the part of the majority can not because of their incompetence developed against the background of the Word of laziness. "Laziness" I use in a broad sense, which includes; fear of losing the little that is already there, and for this to renounce a large new, disgust for the new, as a rejection of the new boots from the fact that it is a pity to throw away old native boots. I do not argue that laziness as non-mental activity has a profound physiological significance. Even at rest in the supine position with closed eyes, our brain, the body weight of 1300 -1400 grams absorbs 20% of the energy consumed by the total number of the whole body. When intense mental activity energy expenditure in the form of glucose absorbed increases to 40%, so the feeling discomfort people subconsciously choose type of activity and the least energy-intensive lifestyle. And in this respect, what could be better than to follow the ways for a long time studied with well-known results are guaranteed. But the flip side of this "coin" is a complete inability to learn something new, which is beyond even spacious, but still "enclosure". The famous American inventor Thomas Edison watching the work of his technicians once said; "People are going to do anything to not think." Here is a letter from our like-minded "party enthusiasts", which illustrates my words. In order to avoid possible adverse moments I removed the name of the person, because once one patient told me this is not very pleasant phrase. "When I read your site, I thought; "And he's still alive?". So you do not want to think about the way other people.

" Hello, Andrey Aleksandrovich. Very glad your book. In fact, it is a constant reminder of your technique, without which completely it would be boring. Dr my still method ignored. Nonresident becomes greater than their own. In the hospital, patients receive the procedure almost completely . It has become our hallmark. Although in general terms, the crisis continues to squeeze his arms. to work harder and harder. I accept, and I hope to luchshee.S Sincerely, B. Say hello to your fascinating assistants. "

In my opinion neither evolution nor revolution in medicine is impossible in principle due to objective reasons. The evolution of the process is too slow, unlike our transient life and yet for decades, or a century will have accumulated a critical mass of knowledge and experience to move slowly to the next level of care, without it too soon will leave the life of hundreds of millions of people. Revolution as a sharp break and rejection of previous experience with regard to medicine can not. In my opinion to put forward the idea, which will be self-sufficient and all previous experience of development can be thrown away as useless and wrong is impossible. Without relying on previous theoretical and practical achievements to move forward it is impossible, and therefore a revolution in isolation from the fruit of a long evolution is doomed to failure, so the representatives of both "parties" against such ideas. In medicine, there are two approaches that are traditionally offered for resolving the problems encountered, it is evolutionary and revolutionary. both have their pros and cons which I will briefly just said. Not only their conditional and can be designated as the "plus and minus" Evolution and revolution, but I think that between the floor they need to put the pole transition, the third link, which will bring together all the positive features of each process and neutralize their disadvantages at the same time. This upgrade will convert all three links in a continuous process, which will be characterized by an evolutionary experience and revolutionary commitment forward. This is the third element, as a unifying pole, I propose to call "Re-evolution." I think that all three links can be worn by a common name. I'll tell you how I think this idea can be implemented in practice, but first, for readability want to go back to the top of the article, the question N. G.

Chernyshevskogo; "Who is to blame and what to do?" in my opinion in a situation in which today is guilty medicine not just knowledge accumulated over the centuries to the present day was not enough to formulate on their basis. A new theoretical approach that n attainments to achieve qualitatively new practical results. Fortunately today in my opinion a "critical mass" of accumulated knowledge has reached a level that allows the synthesis of different theories, each of which carries a part of one common truth. Recovery method of active nerve centers (The Restoration Of Activity Of Nerve Centers )

RANC not invented by me, it is only the fruit of the analysis of the works of the great physiologists, proposed and developed the theory of nervism. We now briefly describe its essence and names of the people who created the theory of almost a century ahead of his time.

In the development of nervism providing 4 stages:

Stage 1: associated with I. M. Sechenovym (1863), the work "Reflexes of the Brain." The basic principle: the spinal cord and brain are working on the principle of reflex and regulate the activity of the whole organism.

Stage 2: V. M. Behterev - studied the brain function in an experiment in healthy and sick person. The brain plays a key role in the regulation of body functions.

Stage 3: S. P. Botkin: found that different diseases have a neurogenic origin. When central nervous system, stress influences - may develop disease. C. Botkin believed that neurogenic reason underlies diseases such as Graves' disease, ulcers, hypertension, diabetes.

Stage 4: I. P. Pavlov - studied the influence of the central nervous system: the heart, vascular tone, blood pressure values, the activity of the gastrointestinal tract and metabolism. I studied the integrative function of the central nervous system, which combines the work of the organs and systems in a single unit. He studied the interaction with the environment. He studied the work of the cortex of the cerebral hemispheres as senior manager and distributor functions in the body.

Nervism definition of the word.

Nervism - this doctrine, which seeks to extend the influence of the nervous system to the largest possible number of body functions.

Nervism , the idea of the precedence of the nervous system in the regulation of physiological functions and processes occurring in the body of animals and humans. The concept Nervizmvedeno in the physiology of I. P. Pavlovym (1883).

Nervism was comprehensive scientific theory, covering biology, physiology, clinic not any random connections, but organically, on the basis of the most important, feature-vertebrate groups all around the body of the nervous system.

"What to do?". I believe that there is no need to split hairs again and try to reinvent the wheel of habit, it is sufficient to go back to the sources, to nervism theory. The method of treatment, which I called RANC is based precisely on this theory. The only thing that was missing before, this is how nervism theory can be applied to solve practical problems to eliminate the causes of diseases. 18 years ago a solution was found. Due to the close anatomical and functional relationship nuclei accessory nerve and reticular formation nuclei in the brain stem, opens the possibility of feedback influence the reticular formation activity short pain stimulation intense portions of the trapezius muscle which leads to the fact that in the brain is activated recovery process normal the activity of the nerve centers, which lasts about 6 weeks. The procedure can be carried out after this time again, if necessary. A number of treatments is determined individually for different nosologies averages 3-5, with Parkinson's disease 10-15. Trapezius muscle stimulation is most suitably performed with water for injection or weak (2%) solution dipyrone in saline.

Abbreviation RANC (recovery of activity of the nerve centers) reflects the essence of the central nervous system processes the result of which is the restoration of optimal central regulation of body organs and systems. This is known as the method of treatment I have proposed to designate that this is RANC method to avoid confusion, as in appearance it resembles paravertebral blockade is a principle of action, he has nothing to do. In the four years since the site was opened RANC method became known, accepted and approved by many doctors and the name RANC proved to be successful, it is now all the more widely used not only in Russia. And, with regard to the PE evolution, a term I first created for himself, to designate the process which is based on the theory and nervism RANC method as its practical implementation. Yesterday, when I started this article, you will not even notice that a new word RE-EVOLUTION composed of two different in meaning of words revolution and evolution has exactly the middle point that I wanted to give him. I wanted a new term Evolution added activity and aggressiveness removed from the Revolution. And only now once again looking at him, I realized what it means in translation, namely the evolution of new, or re-developed. The country received a play on words and meanings. I do not suggest anything to anyone, just myself now easier to understand what I do. About three months ago, one of my patients at the end of the consultation told a strange phrase; "All you have is good, only one thing is alarming that there is on the Internet bad reviews about you," I told him that he was just bad looking, and the comments are different, so yesterday was not lazy and chose all the comments to the video, which is only found and decided to them as there are no cuts in the post this article to make it easier for people to find other people's opinions about me and RANC method. If you have something indignant, just remember that it hurts me more than, I just keep quiet.

I agree with the doctor who first recognized Parkinsonism. The fact that MRI and CT are seen quite rough structural damage, such as stroke and Parkinsonian changes are at the cellular level and in such studies can not be seen, but their effects can be seen in the body and is based on what the clinical diagnosis. Tablets are only some parts of the brain, and RANC method on the whole brain, that he and effective pharmacotherapy. Your first doctor was right, but here you need to apply RANC.

anna potrivaeva

Thank you for your answer! Andrew, can I contact you by email? I have a few questions concerning your method! Thank you for your good work and your attention!

Andrei Ponomarenko

Dear Anna. Diabetes is not a contraindication for use of this treatment method. Instead, like any other disease, it occurs due to a failure in the regulation of brain systems. With specific regard to injury of the sciatic nerve, it is so common states that it is practically nobody in the course of life does not escape. This condition is treated well, as is increasingly functional. Sincerely A.A.Ponomarenko

anna potrivaeva

Please tell me your method can be used for patients with diabetes? Thank you!
